Metaphysical Mysteries

by Melodee K. Currier

For as long as I can remember, our family's conversations centered around ESP, ghosts, and many other metaphysical mysteries. Early memories include my mother and her sister, living in different cities, sending and receiving mental messages to each other at a specific time of the day. One psychic game we'd play in our family was to take a deck of playing cards, have one person look at a card and ask others to say what color suit the card is. I remember closing my eyes and actually seeing the color red if the suit was diamonds or hearts. I was able to guess the color of the suit correctly most of the time. So it's not surprising that paranormal is my normal.

Major paranormal experiences began when I was a teenager and they have continued over the years. Some happenings were minor, but some, including seeing an angel, were awesome. I have briefly described the major ones below. They are all factual and I've listed them in order as they happened.

My Paranormal Experiences

1. My first psychic experience occurred while on a blind date. My date turned out to be boring and disappointing. I had nothing to lose, so I decided to spice things up and tell him all about himself—from how many fillings he had in his mouth to his brother's middle name. I was 100-percent correct, and it totally freaked him out.

2. An angel gave me a message when I was 25. My father was in the hospital with a terminal illness. My mother and I would take turns visiting him at the hospital every other day. One evening after my visit, I called my mother to tell her that he wasn't doing well that day. After going to sleep that night I was awakened at 11:00 p.m. by three very loud knocks and a male voice that said very slowly "He...is...gone." I mentally replied, "No...it's too soon." and went back to sleep. At midnight my mother called me from the hospital. My father had died at 11:00 p.m., the time the angel told me he was gone.

3. I love to attend psychic workshops and was attending a spirit guide workshop when something very shocking happened. It was during a meditation to meet our female spirit guides. When mine wasn't responding, I mentally said "Please give me a sign!" With that, she practically shoved me off my chair. I was stunned and thrilled at the same time. Tears came to my eyes and the instructor could see that something had happened and asked me to share it with the class.

4. Before we had cell phones whenever I had a car problem, my car was always miraculously "driven" right to a pay phone or a safe place, like a parking lot. I always said a prayer of thankfulness and my luck continued.

Further Experiences

5. Once when I was watching the news on TV, the neighbor of a man who had been killed was being interviewed by a reporter. The first thing that came to my mind was—he did it. A couple days later I saw on the news that he had been the one who killed his neighbor.

6. During a shopping trip, I had the strong feeling that someone was shoplifting near me. I looked around and also saw a man I believed to be an undercover cop. I went to the counter and told the clerk my suspicions. She confirmed that he was an undercover cop and she let him know about the shoplifter. My instincts proved to be accurate.

7. The first time I heard the "radio" I was trying to go to sleep, but it sounded as though someone was playing music and having a party nearby. So I got up and walked through my apartment to see if I could find where the sound was coming from—but the radio kept following me. Wherever I went, there it was. I couldn't figure it out so I went back to bed and fell asleep. In the nights that followed, before

I went to sleep, I frequently heard that radio sound. About a year later I moved from Florida to Ohio. My first night sleeping in my new apartment, I heard the radio. Sometimes it would be music I had never heard before and sometimes I would hear talking. Once I tried to decipher what the words were and I heard "They are Americans." At this point, I was hearing the radio either as I was waking up or before I went to sleep, sometimes twice a day. It eventually became annoying, so I asked it to leave. The next day I didn't hear the radio. And it did not return until a couple months later when I decided to invite it back. Eventually it left again and I haven't heard the radio for over 20 years.

More Experiences

8. For several months after my mother died I was frequently visited by a very unusual smell. One day while my husband and I were driving on the expressway I smelled a similar scent and asked him what it was. He said it smelled to him like a crematorium. My mother was cremated and it then made sense that she came to me in the form of that smell.

9. One morning at 5:00 a.m. I opened my eyes shocked to see an angel hovering over me. She had medium length sandy blonde hair, wore a full length aqua and gold robe and had large white wings. I surprised her by opening my eyes at that hour and the second she realized I saw her she disappeared like a bubble bursting. I wasn't scared, but in awe and exclaimed "Wow!"

10. A few years ago during a visit to a psychic I mentioned to her I was planning to sign up for her psychic development classes. She replied that I didn't need her classes, I was already there. She also said I was a medium and could channel and she advised me to get my business cards printed and start giving readings.

11. I recently read a book regarding Archangel Rafael. It stated he is the archangel relating to health matters and you will know he is there by the color emerald green. A couple days later I felt very ill. I held my head in my hands with my eyes closed and prayed to Archangel Rafael to help me. When I opened my eyes for about two seconds everything was the color emerald green. I instantly knew Archangel Rafael was there and answering my prayers and my symptoms disappeared immediately. I also had another occasion to pray to Archangel Rafael to help me with a health matter and he instantly helped me then as well.

12. This morning my husband and I had breakfast at a local restaurant. There was a table of six people at the other end of the room, with one woman speaking very loudly about dogs and monopolizing the conversation. I quietly said to my husband, "Some people are like that. They talk all the time." Instantly I heard the woman say, "Some people are like that. They talk all the time." She repeated the exact words I had just said to my husband about her. It was surreal! If my husband hadn't been there to hear it, I would have sworn I imagined it.

13. Some experiences I've had on a smaller scale include: On occasion I've heard my husband call my name (although he didn't actually call it) and have him appear at that very moment. When I was temping as a secretary for a woman who was on maternity leave, I heard her in labor at the same time she was having her baby. Driving home after a job interview I heard a voice say "The job is yours." And soon after I was offered the job. When I was single, I made a list of attributes I wanted in a future husband and recited them out loud to the universe. Within a very short period of time, I met my husband who possessed 95 percent of those attributes.

Help from the Angels

When I go for walks I like to speak with my angels and spirit guides. I can solve problems by asking the angels questions. I know it's their voices, not mine, because they use words uncommon to me and also because they sometimes interrupt me as I'm asking a question. I shared this with a friend recently and she said the same thing happens to her.

Two signs I receive from angels on a regular basis are feathers and pennies. Feathers are a common way for angels to communicate with us. It's a sign that they're trying to get our attention and that they're here to help us. It can also be sign that everything's going to be okay. Pennies are also signs from angels. You should check the date on the coin as it may have a special meaning for you.

Over the years psychics have told me I have psychic abilities and am a healer. I haven't given any psychic readings yet, but occasionally friends ask me questions relating to their future. One friend has even given me the psychic name of Topaz. Sometimes I use a pendulum, which works well for me. I also like to balance chakras for my husband and friends. I work with the chakras until I see the color of the chakra—then I know it's balanced.

Each day holds the promise of a new opportunity to be close to your angels. All it takes is the willingness to open your mind and be patient. Believe and an awesome experience awaits you! Don't be surprised if you wake up one night to find an angel staring down at you! Ω
